{I am...}

A young, cutting-edge graphic designer, looking to find a career that fits my passion, talents and love for art. Running my own full-time web marketing and graphic design business for the past six years, I have led teams of people to complete high-end websites and graphic designs for businesses ranging from Chambers of Commerce, award-winning skin care companies, pop artists and published YA authors. I am passionate about revolutionizing a business yearly, and I regularly find myself speaking at seminars to encourage companies to modernize and become part of the social media craze. At my last seminar, every person in the room signed up to do a new website! Currently, all of my work comes through references, by clients thrilled with my services. I have a B.A. in Intercultural Studies, which makes me the best person to translate what a client says they want into a masterpiece they are thrilled to see. On the side, I make videos and animations (I have made many flash websites as well), as I am a lover of motion and hope to one day expand into film more. I have the ability to work with teams—leading or following—and am known for learning new skills and programs in just a few days (with several trips for espressos, of course) and then turning around and producing, so that my client never even knows it was my first time. I am looking for a job that will challenge me.

past & present work
EXPERIENCE

Video and Photography Director

Athens Y Camp, Tallulah Falls, Georgia, Summer 2004

Spent the summer filming and editing music videos for each weekly camp as well as promotional videos. Led a team of four people.

Admin. Assistant and Creatives Director

Diversified Energy Services, Inc., Toccoa, Georgia, 2004-2005

Assisted the Vice President with data and financing, as well as representing the company at functions. Spent 50% of time making videos for gas companies as well as designing DESI's brochures, website, postcards, PowerPoint presentations and anything else that related to creative work.

Owner, Graphic Design Business

Currahee Graphics, Freelance 2005 – Present

I started Currahee Graphics in 2005 due to increase in people noting I had an eye for visual design. I partner with various people, such as PHP programmers, to make sure each project is completed to perfection. Constantly work on teams to develop websites efficiently. For my part, I focus mainly on working with clients and creating designs through research, listening to clients' ideas and getting inspired by award-winning sites online. We have created e-commerce websites, government sites, college websites, and much more. I take graphic design very seriously, which has led to my success in this business.

On a side note . . . I'm also a young adult novelist (I've written 4 books), an amateur fashion designer, a mom, and I dream to someday work for Pixar or as a clothing designer!
